"My short term educational goal is to graduate with a Bachelor in Vocal Performance and to continue my music studies in order to gain a Masters degree. After graduation, my aspirations are to become a world-renowned opera singer. I want to sing in various languages at international venues such as the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, The Royal Opera House in London, La Scala in Italy, and The Sydney Opera House in Australia. Later on in life, I would love to use my experiences and talent that I have gained throughout my professional career to teach college students who are majoring in vocal performance. Another one of my long term musical goals is like to create a non-profit organization, which will mentor young musicians ages . aspire to be classical singers. This non-profit organization would expose future performers to topics such as art culture, music theory, vocal technique, diction, a expression. I would truly enjoy giving back the talent and experiences that I have the musicians of tomorrow. With the rising costs of college tuition, room, board a $1,000 scholarship that I won from ScholarshipPoints.com will help me get a gre on my upcoming college education.
